36 signed up there were 31 Present. This is a good turnout. There was a big storm that subsided while we were at the party. It started with a happy hour followed by a good lunch. Then the famous gift exchange. It started off slowly there was not much stealing. Then the stealing started, and gifts were stolen and one person had the most stolen. It seemed like would sit down and then his last gift was stolen. I lost count of the number stolen. It was a great party, and everyone had a good time.
